

Road to reform

Protecting Aboriginal heritage in NSW

The NSW Government, is reviewing the laws for the protection and conservation of Aboriginal culture and heritage in NSW and invites you to be part of this journey towards reform.

There are two stages to this consultation process:

- Stage 1 (October–December 2011): seeking views on the issues for reform and any thoughts on solutions
- Stage 2 (March–July 2012): seeking input into a range of options.

Have your say

Be a part of these unique and important conversations.

Attend an Aboriginal community workshop

Details are available on the website www.environment.nsw.gov.au/achreform or call 1800 881 152 for locations.

Telephone

If you cannot attend one of the above workshops, call 1800 881 152 to arrange a meeting in your local area. These can be arranged for a group of people or for a one-on-one discussion with you.

Online

www.environment.nsw.gov.au/achreform – the website currently has an issues paper, milestones paper, an online consultation forum and other information on the reform process.

Message bank

Call 1800 881 152 and leave a message about what issues you want to have addressed as part of this process.

Email

Email your comments to ach.reform@environment.nsw.gov.au

Send a written submission

Write to:

Mr Norman Laing
Office of Environment and Heritage
PO Box 1967
Hurstville BC NSW 1481

Closing date for submissions is
1 December 2011

I. Brown/OEH

Office of Environment
& Heritage