The Officer in Charge
Native Vegetation Regulation Review
Level 12 PO Box 12090
Sydney South 1232 NSW
Dear Sir,

I am a fifth generation farmer in the Walcha District NSW.
The total time worked on the land by members of our family is 1300 yrs.

If you look responsibly, if you look after assets generally, including control of feral animals, control of weeds, then I don't see any conflict between protection of environmental values and commercial results.

If we care about people if we care about communities, then we want economic activity.

We've got a moral responsibility to sustainably maximise production.
It has been proved many timbered areas near cities or towns are very dangerous. There is no point in locking areas on farms as you will have the same effect, on a smaller scale.

Yours faithfully

Allan Ramsdale

The Native Vegetation Regulation affects about 2% of land holders Why are they targeted?

Mining companies legally can clear hundreds of thousands of acres?
