

S00166 – Barry Wolstenholme

I believe all Category B1 Australian Birds should be removed from registration because there is enough birds in captivity, breeding sufficient numbers to supply the market, therefore trapping from the wild is no longer a fear.

Bird breeders of today have all the knowledge to support increasing captive population of these birds in the future.

If a species dies out in the wild, you will need breeders to keep the species going in captivity.

Bird breeders supply goods diets to their birds and are housed in goods aviaries and the birds are happy and in good health.
