

S00038 – Emily Marsh

Hello!

While I agree with the idea of the standards, I wonder if the cage sizes and tables could be better organised? It took a lot of work to find my snakes breed and the table it suited. The cage size also doesn't make sense. My girl is in a 1200x600x1200. I wonder if it would work out? Also, the changes may also mean the standards of ready made enclosures will change, this may not be a great idea as not everyone who has a snake can afford customised tanks.

The frog table is also great! Helps with learning the best ways to care for them.

Perhaps break each group of reptiles into their own tables?