4.1 standards

I don't understand the point of issuing receipts for an unlicensed bird, seems pointless to me

4.2 guidelines

To keep records of every single bird is most unreasonable especially if u have a lot.

Micro chipping will be expensive often costing more than the bird is worth, plus it is very difficult to find vets experienced with birds, and if u live in the country they are non existent.

Overall the ideas in 4.1 and 4.2 will further reduce the amount of native birds being kept which will be detrimental to the furtherance of our native species and will make sure that exotic species will continue to thrive over our natives
