

S00059 – Trevor Ford

I have looked through the proposed changes to Reptile keeping in Australia and believe the changes will improve reptile keeping standards. Reptiles are good pets to keep requiring care and attention to husbandry details, your draft changes cover these required facts.

The keeping of Category D reptiles don't need a advance licence but only a code of practice and the listing each year of changes to species list.