	I object strongly to the legislation proposal. The legislation attacks property rights and seeks to remove fixed boundary rights. The proposal is a Grren environmental biased document that removes existing rights from coastal property owners and will impact coastal communities negatively. The legislation is backed by jury rigged cost benefit and beneficiary documents that are biased against coastal protection in favor of planned retreat.the proposal does not offer one cent of additional funding from state government in a sharp paradox to bush fire funding which receives some $400million per year. The legislation is far worse than anything that was proposed by the previous Labor government and contrasts sharply with the parliamentary statements by Minister Stokes who rejected planned retreat. The removL of the right to protect ones own property will ring alarm bells with the general population.
