

I am just one of many ordinary people who see the dire need to put the environment first, and to have a more holistic approach to Human activity. It is close to time for the Economic model to change, or it will be changed for us. It would be better for us to do it now, rather than have it foisted on us by calamity.

Just because we CAN do what we do, because we are smart and powerful enough, doesn't mean we should.

Our grandchildren will quite rightly ask us to explain why we didn't listen.
