Director

Rosalind Strong has been the Director of the Heritage Office since its establishment in July 1996 and has led the Office in the implementation of the NSW Government Heritage Policy. This has included significant amendments to the NSW Heritage Act 1977. Mrs Strong's previous position was Assistant Director-General in the Department of Training and Education Co-ordination, responsible for adult education and vocational training. Mrs Strong has raised the profile of heritage across government, in schools and within local communities. Her long involvement in migrant and multicultural education has also proved invaluable in widening the focus of the Heritage Council and the Heritage Office in relation to the diversity of the State's heritage. She became a member of the Heritage Council in 1996.

CEO Performance Statement

Mrs Strong is the Heritage Office's only SES officer. The Minister for Urban Affairs and Planning has indicated his satisfaction with Mrs Strong's performance throughout the reporting period with regard to the following specific responsibilities:

- knowledge of NSW heritage, its significance and conservation
- government leadership in heritage management
- local heritage management
- value of heritage to the community
- conservation practice standards
- role and functions of the Heritage Council
- support to the Minister and Heritage Council
- development of the Heritage Office and its staff.

Assistant Director

In July 1998 Reece McDougall commenced as Assistant Director of the Heritage Office. Mr McDougall began his career as a ranger with the NSW Forestry Commission, and was later a research officer with the National Trust for six years. He moved from the Trust to the Sydney Water Board as a senior environmental scientist and later became principal consultant with AWT Ensign, the commercial arm of the Sydney Water Corporation.

Mr McDougall's key role is to co-ordinate and supervise the work of the Principal Heritage Officers in reaching the targets of the strategic plan.
